“ Oh, my goodness. If this was the Mr. Keiser who taught biology at the old Grovertown High School in the late 1950's (where my dad, Don Wahl, was the principal), he was one of my all time favorite teachers! What an impression he made on my young self, as I also became a teacher and thought of him many, many times over the years. He would tell us funny stories about fishing in Arkansas and having a big snake drop into his boat. I'm sure he will be missed and what a nice long life he had.

“ Always enjoyed my extra conversations before or after school, with Mr Keiser. I am so thankful I stopped by the house recently and got a chance to visit with him. When I called to him “hey squirrel what ya doing” I couldn’t believe he recognized my voice after all these years. Such a great man RIP Mr Keiser.

“ One of (if not my favorite) teachers. He was one of the few that made school fun. He always called me Squirrel (not sure why) and told stories about teaching my mother how to drive in Driver's Ed when he first started teaching, and years later riding motorcycles with my uncle after school. Rest in peace Mr. Keiser and my condolences to the family.

“ Mr. Keiser taught me cell mitosis in biology and that driver's ed cars had a second brake fitted in the passenger side. As my instructor, he thought I took a corner a little fast and had to apply his brake. I thought the car had mechanical issues until he informed me the car was fine but I may want to slow down when turning. 47 years later, I still tell my wife that story when we pass by that location. Thanks for all you've done for me! ”
