“ My entire life Larry was around and playing music. He was excellent at playing the guitar! During my teen year's we hung out playing music or getting in to mischief. What fun we (Larry, Dennis, Billy, Angie, Sherri) had! One winter Larry, Dennis, Angie & Sherri walked down the tracks, in Black Oak, to the bridge that we hung out at just talking, laughing and being stupid. The river looked to be frozen over so Larry chose to walk out on the river to a barrel sticking up out of the water and when he reached it the ice caved in.....he fell through and the water stunk so bad no one wanted to walk near him....lol Dennis and hung back taunting him while Angie and Sherri walked with him. As we walked we spotted a railroad detective ahead so Dennis and I jump in the side ditch, completely covered in snow, and didn't move for nearly an hour. The detective spotted them and wrote a report up on them. Dennis and thought we weren't going to get in any trouble until the letter's came in from the railroad....lol. I don't remember if there was a fine or not. We always had to walk on the tracks if we wanted to get anywhere. Anyone familiar with Black Oak knows this to be a fact. Just different memories with different member's of the family. When Jesse, Brenda, Larry and the guy's had a band and they were set up at work to practice. I would go and listen to them and they were so good i never wanted it to end. Thank God they played a lot. I think him playing music is what's going to stick out to me the most. Good times! ❤️🎸🎤🎧
