“ Toddy was my favorite person to provide care for. I especially enjoyed sitting next to him in while he was in the highchair in the mornings. We would lock hands & count to 20. When I would stop counting rythm with my hand he would continue as in telling me he was not done. Then other fun shared with him was outside in the swing. If he could laugh out loud that is what I heard. He would wiggle & kick his feet with joy, while them big eyes would glare into mine to express so much happiness & thrill. He hated the stander @ school & would sure let me know about it. He liked cheek to cheek contact with those full pudgy cheeks of his. He liked his Woody character doll. I am happy to have met him & will remember him forever. Todd is now in little boy heaven. I send my sympathy to his family.
