“ I remember the visits to KY that you and Howard made to Grandpa Jackson's. You were and always have been a beautiful person inside and outside. Always enjoyed going and visiting there with all. Now, you have completed your life's journey. Rest in peace beautiful lady and sing thru eternity with the angels. Hope to be reunited with you someday. Love you.

“ One of my fondest memories of childhood was to hear that company from Indiana was visiting. Viola, Howard and Steve! She always greeted you with a generous smile and open arms! I could never forget her loving nature and her soft spoken advice. Oh what a beautiful woman! I must admit I was a little jealous that Vi could do handsprings, backflips, and cartwheels! The heavens has gained an eternal angel for sure and we have to endure this loss. Thankfully we will be able to see her again with her bright shining smile when we enter into the Kindom of heaven

“ To my Dear Mommy, Mommy I want you to know how deeply I love you! You have given me so much joy in my life. All my life you stood by me and loved me unconditionally, even through all of my mistakes that I have made, you never stopped loving me and guiding me. I owe my life to you mommy. You gave me life when no one else would. And by doing so you gave life to so many other people. You will never be forgotten. You will live on in all our lives for eternity. You will live on in myself, Jennifer Sue, Ryan Scott, Jacky & Mannix too! You loved everyone you ever met, and touched peoples hearts were ever you went, you loved your grand children, and your great grand children so very much. Every day around the house it was mammie this, mammie that! We all loved you so much! Not only were you my beautiful mother but you were my best friend!! My heart will never be the same. But I will never be the same. But I know that God knew that we could no longer help you and it was then that he laid his loving hand on you and called you home. Oh how I wish I could cook you supper one last time, or lay by beside one last night. It was such an honor mommy to help you, take care of you! That's what you taught me, to love others, and take care of others! I will miss you mommy! I will never forget you! I will never forget us! I owe my life to you!! Your loving son, Steve
